Then I use the chart to record our purchases and keep a current balance of what we have spent so that I always know how much we have left in our budget for the month. When Donnie and I take the time to sit down together and write down our financial goals, it puts us on the same page, and we are much more likely to achieve what we set out to do! Let's say we have set ourselves the goal of paying off our student loans in the next year. There are several key pages that I include in my budget folder every year. The images below are from an earlier version of this post. These messages may help: Our 5 tips for living on one income 10 practical ways to save more money this month 30+ tips to help you make money while you clutter How to get organized without spending a lot of money *I'm not a financial professional. Goal Setting Card Goal setting is oh-so-important to me, especially when it comes to finances. I'm simply sharing strategies that have worked for my family in the past to help save more money, and hope they will help you too! Thank you for reading! This post contains affiliate links.
